授業方針・テーマ	This is a required course for students in the Global Education Program upon completion of their study abroad. Offered in an intensive format during the spring or summer break, this is a seminar-style class, based on interactive discussion among students and professors and student presentations. It offers students the opportunity to reflect on their study abroad experiences and work with fellow students with different and diverse experiences, while also providing an interactive environment for students to clarify their career goals and explore suitable career paths based on both achievements in their chosen field and their study abroad experience.
習得できる知識・能力や 授業の目的・到達目標	Drawing on their study abroad experiences, students are expected to demonstrate their ability to analyze contemporary issues in their respective fields from a global perspective, discuss potential solutions and prospects and apply acquired academic skills and research approaches. In their individual presentation, students will be required to present their study at TMU in their chosen field and their study abroad experience connecting with their own career plan. In group presentation, groups composed of three or four students who studied abroad in different parts of the world will decide on one theme that group members found interesting during their study abroad experience.
授業計画・内容 授業方法	Depending on the number of students enrolled and their schedules, the structure and the timetable of the course is subject to change. Class days will be determined according to the schedules of the professors and students. Each class day will consist of three periods (one period = 90 minutes) and will be held once or twice a week for three to four weeks during summer or spring break. The final session of the seminar will be presentation day and will be determined depending on the schedule of all students and invited professors from each major field (this can be held on two separated days). 1 – 3 Class introduction, academic skills, grouping and deciding on the topics for group presentations 4 – 6 Preparation for group presentations 7 – 9 Group presentations and peer and lecturer feedback 10 – 12 Individual presentations and peer and lecturer feedback 13 – 15 Individual and Group Presentations
授業外学習	This seminar includes several hours of in-class presentation preparation; however, outside classroom, students will be required to work on their own towards finalizing their individual and group presentations and enhance their quality.
